Hi,

Here is a comprehensive report concerning the distribution of relief items brought in the country by Mr. Advertus O. Wright during his visit here about a year and a half ago.

The distribution targeted children and the elderly. Items distributed amongst the children included cloths, candies, biscuits and some toys. The children were excited for the items and made this remark "We were not expecting such thank God for you". Before the distribution could start, a female police officer who has just returned from work saw the crowd and stopped to make sure that the children are protected so she started her constitutional duties by maintaining law and order. These children were among many children who were affected by the civil war that left many of them either dead homeless or displaced in various communities.

This distribution moved the children one step ahead knowing that one day things will get better.

A child who spoke to me said that we are today happy to see all of you giving us these things but please next time give us copy books, book bags pencils so that we can carry them to school.

For the elderly, they were given rice bought by Mr. Wright. These people were also affected by years of civil war that left most of them displaced and homeless. They expressed their thanks and appreciation to the organization and pray that this donation will go a long way and they will not forget this day.

At the end of it all the officer was given a pat on the back for a job well done.

It my prayer that God will replenish that which the organization have spend so far to save lives and bring hope to our people once again

God bless

Mr. John K. Wright
Coordinator.
